Heritages

Know-how and maximum attention to detail are applied to unique handcrafted processes that make each piece a work of art. A journey through unrepeatably creations inspired by the most varied feelings, traditions or cultures. Works of art that tell stories.

WORKS OF ART IN PORCELAIN

The origins of Aztec dances take us back to pre-Hispanic Mexico. They started off as ritual dances to worship the gods and to stay in contact with nature. The dancers were arranged in large circles and offerings were placed in the center, where they believed all energy to be concentrated.

Aztec dances were also considered a ritual cleansing of body and soul and believed to be a medium to reach a higher plane of consciousness closer to the origins and fate of man.

Part of the traditions and cultural heritage of Mexico, these dances are still practiced in celebrations, festivals, cultural acts and even as a contemporary way of reconnecting with the Earth and nature.

The size, posture and expressive gestures of this porcelain creation entailed a highly complex process of elaboration, making it an excellent example of Lladró's technical and decorative virtuosity. A work that conveys the power and energy of these traditional dances.

Made in matte porcelain, this piece depicts an idealized vision of Aztec dances with an understated yet rich decoration, which highlights the solemnity of these ritual dances.

Taken overall, the feathers, the knee and ankle cuffs, the skirt and the breastplate have been worked with minute ornamental detail and with a meticulous use of enamels and metallic lusters.

The decoration of the feathers called for a wide range of different tones of green and the use of airbrush solutions with newly created colors. Special attention was also paid to the decoration of the obsidian, a stone used in weapons and banners and believed since ancient times to possess protective powers and to ward off negativity.

GoddeSS LAKSHMI

Goddess Lakshmi, the Hindu divinity of fortune and prosperity, is portrayed once again by Lladró artists, this time with a specific focus on the details.

The wealth of the ornamentation in the necklaces, bracelets, sashes and sari is exquisite, on a par with one of the best-loved goddesses in Hindu homes.

Once again, Goddess Lakshmi, seated on a large lotus flower, the symbol of her purity, has been treated with the respect deserved by one of the most venerated goddesses.

Matte porcelain was chosen for this piece with a decoration based on bright colors, enamels and golden luster. In addition, particular attention is paid to the 170 flowers adorning it, all handmade petal by petal.

Hermes was cunning and clever and had the gift of oratory, which is why the gods chose him to be their herald, as he was able to convey their message with eloquence and charm.

This god from Mount Olympus is usually depicted with wings on his heels because he had to travel quickly to deliver Zeus's orders wherever he was called. In this new edition, the wings are decorated with golden luster.

Hermes is the latest addition to the Myths Collection and, like the rest of the pieces, it is made in matte white porcelain to enhance the realism, the wealth of details and the sculptural work in the execution.

Flower Picking

Flowers always transmit a sense of energy, inspire renewal and connect us directly with nature. Flower Picking is a new creation that captures the beauty and joy transmitted by the flowers, handmade petal by petal, she is carrying in her baskets.

Almost as if she has been lifted straight from a painting by one of the great romantic artists, known for their cult of nature, this woman brings with her the scents of freshly picked flowers.

This piece joins the A Travel in Time collection which opened last spring with Flower Market.

They were emperors during the Heian period, a time of peace and tranquility. A time of samurais, of poetry and art, in which the emperor and empress upheld traditions and behaved with courage, wisdom and kindness. With the passing of the years the figure of the emperors became a symbol of fortune and fulfilment, and for that reason during the popular Hina Matsuri festival held every year in March, newborn baby girls receive a gift of Hina Dolls, an emperor and an empress, to wish them a happy and prosperous life.

This glazed porcelain version is notable for the beige and pink decoration and for the faithfulness and detail of the costumes worn in the imperial court of the time.

The crocodile, from the Greek kroko-deilos meaning stone man, has been worshipped since ancient times by different civilizations and cultures. Inhabitants of our planet for over 50 million years, these prehistoric predators represent a profound long-lasting connection with Mother Nature.

Their ability to live on land and in water, their sharp vision and hearing, and their energy, means that they are symbols of protection and also of equilibrium and analysis.

This magnificent example in white glazed porcelain is decorated with copper luster and measures over fifty centimeters long. A truly impressive work sure to capture all eyes.

Tiger -red and gold- is the first in a series of new versions of the animals in the Chinese Zodiac, this time treated from a more conceptual viewpoint and with a decoration based on solid, intense colors.

The 12 animals in the Chinese Zodiac are a must-have for Lladró lovers. On one hand, because of the various options in sizes and decoration and, on the other, because of the symbolism of each sign.

In the Chinese Zodiac, 2022 is the year of the Tiger and it is hoped that, in tune with what this animal represents, it will be a year of adventures, enjoyment and courage.
